1 geoduck and other shellfish belonging to the State of Washington. After a lengthy 2 investigation of suspected poaching activities on the part of Douglas Tobin, a warrant was 3 issued for his arrest in March of 2002 along with a warrant to seize property that was relevant 4 to his prosecution or represented the fruits of criminal activity. Items seized included several 5 vessels, including the vessel Typhoon, bank accounts and records, equipment related to the 6 vessels seized, several motor vehicles, navigational equipment, diving gear and other assorted
7 items kept on the vessels seized or other items related to the alleged criminal conspiracy
8 which was subject to prosecution by the Pierce County Prosecutor's Office in Pierce County
9 Cause Numbers 02-1-0236-3, 02-1-05810-0 and 01-1-0499-4. A notice of forfeiture was filed
10 in regard to all items seized by the Pierce County Prosecuting Attorney following Mr. Tobin's 11 arrest. As part of a plea bargain agreement entered by Douglas Tobin in which he agreed to 12 plead guilty to several counts of first degree theft and being a convicted felon in possession of 13 a firearm, he agreed that all property seized would be forfeited and would be retained by the 14 State of Washington.

17 On December 10, 2003, representatives of the Pierce County Prosecuting Attorney and 18 Douglas Tobin entered into a Stipulation on Forfeiture of Property which provided that certain 19 items of personal property found on the Typhoon having minimal value, cash, one vehicle and 20 two bank accounts would be returned to Douglas Tobin or his representative. By the express 21 terms of the Stipulation, all other property seized would remain the property of the State of

1 3. On January 16, 2004, I and Detective Charles Pudwill, another Fish and 2 Wildlife Enforcement Officer, met Stacey Tobin, daughter of Douglas Tobin, at a gas station
3 located at the intersection of Union and Plum Streets in Olympia, Washington. The purpose
4 of this meeting was to transfer certain items of personal property that had belonged to her
5 father Douglas Tobin which had been seized on the vessel "Typhoon" at the time of Douglas 6 Tobin's arrest in March of 2002. Stacey Tobin was designated by Douglas Tobin, who was 7 then incarcerated, as his representative to receive personal property being returned to him

9 05810-0 dated December 10, 2003.

11 4. On this date Detective Pudwill and I transferred various items of personal 12 property to Ms. Tobin that were being delivered to her as her father's representative. The 13 items of personal property included sleeping bags, bedding, pillows, clothing, utensils, eagle 14 feathers, a beaded bag, video tapes and other items of miscellaneous personal property. These 15 items coincided with property described on the Stipulation as "[p]ersonal property found on 16 the boat Typhoon to include medicine bag, clothes, etc." Stacey Tobin signed a receipt on 17 January 16, 2004, at this meeting acknowledging that she received these items on her father's 18 behalf. I personally witnessed her receive these items and sign the receipt which is attached
19 hereto as Exhibit B. My signature appears on this document as does Detective Pudwill's 20 signature. These items coincide with the first twenty four items listed on plaintiff Douglas 21 Tobin's "Personal Inventory Seized by the State of Washington" which plaintiff filed in 22 support of his tort claim filed against the State of Washington. A copy of this inventory is
